Course Description

The current EU-UK Trade Cooperation Agreement has highlighted the complexity for Irish importers and exporters when trading with a third country. Increased customs interaction is fraught with many risks which have to be managed by your organisation. Customs compliance is central to this and is the responsibility of all business, even where you outsource your customs declarations.

This course will cover all your key responsibilities in terms of customs compliance; what you need to do and what your transport or customs partners need to do. Covering the key risk areas such as operations, finance and regulatory, the course takes a practical approach to maintaining a compliant and efficient customs supply chain.
